

Wayside

"Tony, The Convict"

A Drama in Five Acts

At Dreamland Theatre

Wayside, Wis.

SUNDAY EVENING, MAY 11, 1924

AT 8:15 O'CLOCK

Given by Wayside Dramatic Club

ADMISSION: Children 25c, Adults 35c

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Tony Warren, a many-sided character..... Myron Frosch
 Weary Wayside, his henchman, "too tired to work" Nick Bergman
 James Barclay, hard-hearted and vindictive Frank Pfeffer
 Philip Warburton, a social leader..... Harvey Kitzerow
 Judge Van Cruger, of the Supreme Court..... Gilbert Lenke
 Warden Burrows, of Sing Sing Prison..... Billy Gibbons
 Jackson, a negro footman Billy Tisler
 Lena, the reputed daughter of Judge Van Cruger Lillian Daley
 Mrs. Van Cruger, the Judge's wife Mildred Frosch
 Miss Sedley, who takes pleasure in being disagreeable..... Florence Gibbons
 Saily, with a soul above lash..... Althea Frosch

The Dreamland Theatre

The establishment that previously occupied map position 12 is still fondly remembered by some local residents. This was the "Dreamland Theatre". Built by Wayside Amusement Company on land purchased from George Frosch in 1913, it was considered a splendid theatre, complete with an orchestra pit. Here towns people were entertained by traveling medicine shows, stage plays and movies powered by the company's own gasoline-propelled generator.

Eventually, however, attendance dwindled as the advent of better transportation made city theatres more accessible. The building changed hands several times and in later years became known as the Wayside Theatre. The Wayside Fire Dept finally acquired the property in 1957 and, sold the building to Mr. Siebert to be moved. This is the building currently located next to DeGreef's bar on Wayside Road.

